NEWS OF VARIOUS KINDS

Grayslake has an automobile court now. The same will be in session on each Tuesday morning at nine o'clock. It does seem queer how some villages can get away with unlawful officers created by catching speeders.

The average temperature for August at the Yerkes observatory at Lake Geneva was 70 degrees, 1.0 degree above normal. The rainfall was 5.22 inches, 1.21 inches above normal. On Saturday afternoons during August 4,675 people visited the observatory.

C. E. Meeker of Waukegan, former prohibition investigator for State's Attorney Smith at Lake county, has been placed under arrest on a charge of obtaining money by extortion. He fell into a trap laid for him by the prosecutor.

Wisconsin has 103 active cow testing associations. There were 147 associations operating a part of all the year from July 1, 1920 to July 1, 1921. More than 3,000 Wisconsin farmers owning over 51,000 cows are members of cow testing associations.

W. H. Shons, of Freeport, Ill., who has the contract for erecting the new bridge across the White river at the Nestle's Food company factory, started work last week.

Walworth County Holstein Breeders made an excellent showing of cattle at the state fair at Milwaukee where they exhibited a county herd of thirty-five head and secured twenty-five prizes.

The right of the Chicago health department to send inspectors into Lake county to inspect dairies producing milk for use within that city is conceded by J. L. McLaughlin, superintendent of the division of foods and dairies, in the state department of agriculture.

The Chicago North Shore & Milwaukee electric railroad is made defendant in a $20,000 damage suit filed in circuit court last week by Marie Rohl. Injuries received in a street car accident are the basis of the action. The alleged accident occurred July 21, 1920. A Great Lakes Fruit company truck was proceeding north in Waukegan road. An automobile was proceeding south in the same road. The truck and the auto started to pass at a point south of Sacred Heart station. The charge is made in the bill that owing to the carelessness on the part of the truck driver and the electric train motorman, a collision took place between the street car and the auto, causing the street car to leave the rails and go bumping across Waukegan road.

Examinations, under civil service rules, for the selection of postmasters in thirty-eight Illinois towns will be held on Oct. 8. Among the towns are Argo, Fox Lake, Kenilworth, Palestine and West McHenry.

Springfield—More than 250 miles of Illinois highways have been paved this year, according to a report by the division of highways. This brings the completed mileage up to more than 1,365 miles, leaving approximately 200 miles of the immediate paving program to be finished. With the completion of the work, the Chicago-St. Louis highway, with the exception of seven miles, will be paved from end to end. The total mileage completed to date is: Federal aid, 596; state bond, 20; state aid 400; county, 319; total, 1,365.

Springfield—Organization of three new state banks in Chicago during the last month brought the total number of state banks in Illinois up to an even 1,400, according to a report by State Auditor Andrew Russell.

One of their three children dead, and two others seriously ill, as the result of eating acorns, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hammond, of Lake Bluff, are almost crazed with grief. The eldest of their sons, aged seven, died last week. Two others, five and six, were saved when a half quart of whole acorns were removed from their stomachs.

Boys Outplay Girls at Ball

Three hundred people gathered at the ball diamond last Sunday to witness the game of in-door out-door baseball played between the Bloomer Girls of the Calumet Baking Powder company of Chicago and the Antioch boys.

The girls were on a vacation trip and the game was booked by "Daddy" Manning, who acted as Manager for the girls.

Many of the fans did not understand the game. It is played similar to baseball, but the diamond is much smaller and some of the rules differ, the players are also changed. In baseball only one shortstop is used, while in indoor two boys to even it up somewhat. Meats pitched for the girls and look for the boys, this time the score ended in favor of the boys, 9 to 2.

This was the last game of the season. Next year we hope that the boys will don their uniforms early and have a successful season.

KENOSHA BOOSTERS VISIT HERE

Yesterday morning about sixty automobiles bearing Kenosha business men and decorated to represent their various businesses visited Antioch and distributed literature and advertising souvenirs. Several selections were played by Gen. Green's "rube" band, consisting of twenty pieces.

Mr. Otis Tenny gave a short address thanking the villagers for the reception accorded them.

Several comic songs were sung by a quartet of farmers that was the outstanding feature of the booster trip.

The booster's trip was in charge of Carl Reed.

To Prohibit Use of "Blinds" on Grass Lake

The new rule that has gone into effect this year that prohibits the use of artificial hunting blinds extending beyond the shore line is said to have been brought about largely by the abuse of the privilege at Grass Lake in Lake county.

It is said that a series of these blinds have been set up from year to year at various vantage points. When hunters came along they found that it would be necessary for them to pay as high as $5 for the use of one of these blinds. The hunters who did not accept these terms found it practically impossible to hunt for they could not get near enough to the game. Many complaints were made as a result.

This year is aimed to place every hunter on an equal basis, for they will not be able to establish themselves in blinds before the shore line.

Deputy game wardens plan to visit the various lakes, especially Grass Lake, and destroy all the blinds which do not comply with the regulations.

Hunters say that while the two hours hunting daily on Fox lake will not result in the bagging of many ducks, that it will have the effect of driving ducks to other lakes and improve general hunting conditions. Ducks are said to be quite plentiful this year.

FOOTBALL TEAM HOLDS SCRIMMAGE

The local high school football team is making wonderful progress under the direction of Coaches Wood and Chelcraft. Coach Wood says that there is good material on the field and as soon as the boys get acquainted with the game he has no doubt that the team will be able to give a good account of itself. The football suits arrived Monday, but as it rained that day the boys had to practice in the gym. Tuesday the boys received their first scrimmage. The two teams formed and played four periods of a good hot scrimmage, only one touchdown being registered. The boys were pretty well tired out at the end of the fourth period, due to the heat and the coaches called a halt for the day's practice. Scrimmages will be held every day this week. L. O. Bright, the principle is trying to arrange a game for a week from Saturday. Three games are already arranged, two with Wauconda, the first to be played at Wauconda on October 15, and the second at Antioch on November 6. Games are being booked with Libertyville, Waukegan and other teams in neighboring cities.

Many folks in Antioch have never witnessed a football game and the brand of ball the local boys are capable of playing is sure to attract attention.

Many Robberies Are Reported in Last Few Days

The local railroad station was broken into on Sunday night or early Monday morning. The thieves, after rifling the office, entered the freight house, opening boxes and packages. Nothing of value was taken but an automobile tire.

Some time during Tuesday night a week ago burglars entered the Waterford postoffice by prying open a rear window. They then proceeded to dynamite the safe and succeeded in wrecking it completely, blowing the heavy door across the room. There was less than $5 in change in the safe said Postmaster Shenkenberg, and the burglars got a few stamps, but the loss outside of the wrecking of the safe will be very small.

Thieves broke into the office of Lagaschulte & Hager on North Railroad street, at Barrington, one night last week and ransacked the desks, securing a few dollars in small coin which was kept on hand for change. They gained entrance through a back door, adjoining the railroad tracks, breaking the lock.

Last week crackmen attempted to open a safe in the office of Plagge & Company at Lake Zurich but succeeded only in blowing off the combination and otherwise mutilating the safe.

It is presumed to be the same burglars who broke into the Cary bank in the same week and blew the combination off the vault doors but failed to open the vaults.

Did the thief who stole a mail bag from the depot at Libertyville last week have a key to the station and did they enter and take the pouch after the station was closed for the night, or did the baggage man forget to lock the door when he left for the night? These questions are being asked following the visit to Libertyville the first of the week of two postoffice inspectors to conduct a probe into the case.

Ike Monheit will open a ladies' and gent's furnishings store in the building now occupied by the Eck restaurant on October 1. Mr. Monheit will run this store during the winter season only.

Mr. Monheit is very popular with the villagers in this vicinity, traveling from house to house with a wagon supplied with wearing apparel.

JOHN BOHRN IS KILLED IN AUTO CRASH

Miss Mary Bohrn, a Sister, Also Victim of Accident and May Die From Injuries

WIFE SERIOUSLY INJURED

John Bohrn of Chicago and formerly of Trevor, where he was known as one of the earliest pioneers of Kenosha county, was instantly killed at 11:30 on Monday morning when the automobile in which he was riding near Milwaukee, on the Kilbourn road, ran into the ditch and turned over, pinning the unfortunate man to the ground. Mrs. Carrie Bohrn, wife of Mr. Bohrn, has her right collarbone broken and a sister-in-law, Mrs. Mary Bohrn, wife of Leonard Bohrn, a brother of Mr. Bohrn, is suffering from extensive internal injuries from which it is a grave question as to whether she will recover. John Bohrn, Jr., a son of the deceased man, is a policeman in Chicago and was on furlough and was taking the touring party to the Dells in Wisconsin.

The Bohrn family were on their way to the Dells and stopped in Kenosha at the home of Matt Werve on Sunday. They left the Werve home early Monday morning and were on their way to the Dells, via Milwaukee, when a milk truck attempted to cross the road in front of the Bohrn car. Young Bohrn, who was driving the car, swerved the car in an attempt to keep from hitting the milk truck. In getting off the pavement, however, in the soft mud, the car slipped into the ditch and turned completely over.

The Bohrn home was known as one of the most hospitable places in that section of Wisconsin, and it was a center of activities in the neighborhood. Mr. Bohrn is survived by his widow, two sons and six daughters. They are John Bohrn Jr., a member of the police department of Chicago; Charles E. Bohrn of Silverlake; Mrs. Anna Gross, Mrs. Margaret Botling, and the Misses Jane, Catherine and Grace Bohrn, all of Chicago; and Mrs. Isabel Dixon of Silverlake.

The funeral will be held at the Wilmot Catholic church tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

Kittle Is Hit in Statement Issued by Marketing Co.

"Facts about the Marketing company. Kittle again attempts, to be dictator." These are the heads to a lengthy statement issued last Friday and which was sent to all members of the Co-operative Marketing company, which markets the milk of 14,000 farmers in northern Illinois, Indiana and southern Wisconsin.

The statement scored the administration of W. J. Kittle, of Crystal Lake as superintendent, declared, "the marketing company is just recovering from gross inefficiency and mismanagement" and declared that the company is getting on its feet.

Another statement, this by the advisory committee to the executive board, commended the re-organization policies of the executive committee, which was under fire at the meeting of the board of directors held last week and told of "leaks" being stopped.

The statement of the executive committee was aimed at Kittle, who recently resigned as superintendent and whose forces blocked an attempt last week to legalize previous meetings of the board of directors specially called illegally.

"The entire situation is the result of the fixing of the September price at $1.50 per hundred pounds," said Kittle. "This action by the executive committee practically nullifies everything that has been accomplished by the marketing company." The milk price has not been as low as it is today since 1910.

The advisory committee membership included Adam Weaver, Harvard; H. E. McDonough, Hampshire; F. N. Ames, Brooklyn; C. Larsen, I. A. A. Chicago; W. T. Greene, Oxfordville; Geo. Keller, Naperville, and A. P. March, Burlington.

It Pays to Advertise

We got a letter from a subscriber who said he found a spider in his copy of the Palladium, and asks if it means good or bad luck. Mark Twain once answered such a question as follows:

"Finding a spider in your paper was neither good or bad luck. The spider was merely looking over the paper to see what merchant was not advertising, so he could go to that store, spin a web across the door and live a life of undisturbed peace ever afterwards."—Pana, Ill., Palladium.

COUNTY FAIR AT WILMOT NEXT WEEK

Everything is in readiness for the second annual fair of the West Kenosha County Fair association which will be held at Wilmot next week Friday and Saturday, September 30 and October 1, and from advance interest it will surpass anything before attempted in these parts.

Various committees have been active and have provided many features in addition to the usual display of farm products, women's work and children's school exhibits.

The fair will formally open with a big parade Friday morning, business men having agreed to decorate floats and the various schools providing features.

Saturday afternoon there will be a speaking program, the address of the day being delivered by Attorney General Wm. E. Morgan. He will be introduced by Ex-congressman Clifford E. Randall.

Clarence Wright and his band will furnish music both days and Friday afternoon C. W. Hockings, of Brown's lake, will give a chicken cleaning exhibition. Wm. G. Voss, of Sunny Hill farm, Bassett, has donated a pure bred Shorthorn bull, which will be given away to the holder of the lucky ticket the last night. Dances will be given at Woodman hall both evenings and Saturday evening there will be a short preliminary program arranged by Miss Gertrude O'Coner, of Silverlake. The women will serve dinner both days.

The high school grounds at Wilmot will be divided in such a way as to insure sufficient space for all kinds of exhibits, such as cars, machinery, etc., while the school building with its excellent system of ventilation will afford an excellent place for exhibiting grains, vegetables and farm produce in general. Prof. W. J. Wojto, of Madison, will judge the farm exhibits and Prof. A. Humphrey, of Madison, the live stock exhibits.

A large picnic will be arranged this year, and the people will have an excellent opportunity to see plays, throw balls for kewpie dolls, etc. The board of directors is eliminating all forms of low class amusement and a good, clean fair is assured.

The athletic events are being planned by the entertainment committee, and will be carried out systematically. Horse shoe contests, tugs of war, a greased pig, a greased pole climbing contest and any number of other attractions are being planned.

A baby show is again being arranged and is receiving especial attention at the present time. Prizes will be awarded to the best dressed baby in calico, the fattest baby, the most perfect baby, the biggest rogue, the best natured baby, and the prettiest baby.

Plan to attend the fair both days. The officers assure it will be worth your while.

Millburn Farmer Dies Saturday of Heart Trouble

Charles Henning, 57 years old, a farmer residing one mile south of Rosecrans, was found in a dying condition by his wife last Saturday afternoon in the yard at his home.

He had been under a doctor's care for some time and had been afflicted with heart disease.

Mr. Henning had been chopping wood that afternoon and it is believed his death was caused from over exertion. Mrs. Henning carried her husband to the house and Dr. H. E. Jamieson of Millburn was called. Mr. Henning died at 8 o'clock Saturday night.

Funeral was held on Tuesday at two o'clock standard time from Millburn church, with burial in Millburn cemetery.

F. D. SHEETS NEW HEAD OF STATE ROADS

Gov. Small Picks Man Thought to Be More Considerate Toward Lake County

COUNTY LOOKS FOR ACTION

Mr. Frank D. Sheets has just been appointed Superintendent of the State Department of highways in place of S. E. Bradt. Mr. Bradt has been Superintendent for upwards of four years past. It has been stated and sometimes apparently with considerable reason, that Mr. Bradt has favored road improvement in central Illinois rather than in Lake county. It has been difficult to secure co-operation in road improvement in Lake county from the State department of highways while under the jurisdiction of Mr. Bradt, and there has been voiced considerable dissatisfaction heretofore.

Mr. Sheets has been in the department of highways as one of its most important engineers for twelve years. He is thoroughly familiar with road building and improvement. While he has been subordinate to Mr. Bradt numerous conferences had been had with him pertaining to Lake county roads and, uniformly he has shown an interest in the improvement of roads in this county. He brings to the office of Superintendent his experience in road improvement and his knowledge of the conditions prevailing in Illinois and will make an excellent Superintendent of that department. Further, the people in this vicinity who know him express themselves in favor of his interest in development and building of roads in this county and it is being predicted that Antioch will benefit by this change in the Department of Highways.

State highway officials on August 23 opened bids for 145 miles of road in Illinois, but none of the mileage was in Lake county.

It was announced Tuesday that on October 4 the highway department will open bids on the greatest amount of road and bridge construction work Illinois has ever offered to contractors at any one time. The offering includes 189 miles of paving in eighteen different counties; seventy-three miles of heavy grading preparatory to paving in ten counties; and sixty-nine bridges in fourteen counties.

And not a mile of the work is to be done in Lake county. It does seem Lake county is not getting its fair share of attention.

Over 250 miles of Illinois highways have been paved this year, according to a report by the division of highways. This brings the completed mileage up to more than 1,365 miles, leaving approximately 200 miles of the immediate paving program to be finished.

Paving work let to contractors is 89 per cent completed and the grading under contract is 78 per cent done. Bridge work upon which contracts have been let is 77 per cent finished. These figures, the latest available, are based on road work for which appropriations have been made and upon which work has actually commenced.

Status of the Work
The status of paving work, as shown by the bureau of construction report follows:

Class—	Com- pleted	This year
Federal aid	596.34	158.54
State bond	19.64	19.64
State aid	400.24	7.74
County	349.07	64.47

Total 1,365.29 240.40

With the completion of this year's road work the Chicago-St. Louis highway will be paved from end to end, according to highway department predictions. This is one of the longest stretches of federal aid road in the United States.

Since his inauguration Gov. Small has been pushing the road-building program pausing only to combat high prices for which he blames the "cement trust." So far the governor has awarded contracts at an average cost of $30,000 a mile, the maximum figure which he said he would permit the state to pay.

The MYSTERY OF THE SILVER DAGGER

"A MILLION!"

Synopsis.—In a New York jewelry store Philip Severn, United States consular agent, notices a small box which attracts him. He purchases it. Later he discovers in a secret compartment a writing giving a clue to a revolutionary movement in this country ostensibly seeking to overthrow the Chilean government, but evidently international in character. The writing mentions a rendezvous, and Severn decides to investigate. Finding the place mentioned in the writing apparently deserted, Severn visits a saloon in the vicinity. A woman in the place is met by a man, seemingly by appointment, and Severn, his suspicions aroused, follows them. They go to the designated meeting place, an abandoned iron foundry. At this rendezvous Severn is accepted as one of the conspirators and admitted. He meets a stranger who appears to recognize him.

He pressed something in the side wall, sliding back a panel, and disappeared, the rough boards returning instantly into place. I was left alone, staring at the spot where he had disappeared. Beyond doubt the entrance awaiting me lay straight ahead, concealed by the hanging curtain. I stepped cautiously forward, listening for some guiding sound from beyond that barrier, afraid to draw it aside and take a blind plunge into the unknown. I could detect the murmur of voices, several of them speaking Spanish, yet in such low tones I could distinguish only an occasional emphasized word. There was no door between us; only that thick, hanging curtain, and I ventured far enough to draw this aside sufficient to peer through with one eye. Beyond was a reasonably large room, but so dimly lighted as to be scarcely visible from end to end. I could discern men present, a number of them, lounging about on chairs, their outlines being fairly revealed, but the light was not sufficient to give me any impression of their faces. It seemed quite possible that I might slip in unobserved, and pass among them unrecognized except through accident. But the risk of discovery was too great. I must find some other point of entrance.

The private doorway through which Wine had disappeared gave me the thought that there might also be others. I dare not follow after him, but if there was another opening to be found I was perfectly willing to explore into its mysteries. The search was brief, yet the very nature of the rough board wall made concealment impossible. Behind the dangling coats I uncovered what I sought, and not a moment too soon. Even as my hand touched the exposed latch, a murmur of voices in the outer entry reached my ears—there were new arrivals being questioned, and admitted.

The panel slid back silently in its grooves, and I peered through the revealed opening into absolute darkness. All I could be sure of, as exhibited by the dim light of the passage, was a single step downward, and then apparently a strip of earth floor. I dare not wait and meet those entering; there was but one choice of action. I pressed through the orifice, forced the panel back into place, and stood erect in the intense darkness and silence, listening for the slightest sound.

I was still motionless, my heart beating fiercely, when several men entered the passage. I had just left. Pressing my ear against the thin crack I distinguished words so as to place together scraps of conversation. It seemed to me there were three voices—one speaking Spanish entirely, the others using English. One of the latter spoke first.

"It's a dirty night out, but good for our purpose. You came by motor, Alonzo?"

"No. Wine said that was too risky. I walked from the car line. What's up? Do you know, Captain?"

"The fellow addressed exploded in Spanish.

"Why you call me that? I tell you my name!"

"It's safe enough in here, but I'll be careful outside. What was this meeting called for?"

"It was a message from Washington, orders maybe, that we act soon. I hope it."

"From Washington? Is Mendez here?"

"Saprista, no! Can he move without a dozen spies at his heels? He and a messenger no one ever suspect. She bring the word."

"She? A woman?"

"Sure! That was better. No one know her; no one ever see her with our people. It was a good trick, and it fool the pigs."

"But who is the woman?"

The other uttered a gruff exclamation of disgust.

"I know, you suppose I tell? Not much, but I do not know. They trust her—is it not enough? 'Tis my guess she come special for to do this."

"She is a Chilean then?"

"Maybe; maybe American, Spanish. What difference if she be in our service? They know what she is; tonight she is Marie Gessler—it has the sound of Switzerland. Beyond this I care nothing."

"But you have seen her, perhaps?"

"Not a sight; none of the boys here. She was to meet Alva at Times square this noon. I went with him, but no girl—just a messenger boy there with a note in code. Something had frightened the lady, and she made a night appointment over here."

"Here! How did she know the way out?"

"She didn't, for the matter of that; But she had been piped off on Jans' place, and agreed to be there as soon as it was dark. I'm wondering if she showed up; let's go in and see."

The three moved off down the passage, still conversing in subdued tones, the sharp accent of the Spaniard most prominent, and I became acutely aware of the black silence in which I stood. There was no occasion for me to risk my life farther in an effort to learn more. I had located the secret rendezvous of this gang of revolutionary plotters. I was aware of their connection with the Chilean Junta at Washington, and it would be a comparatively easy matter now to capture them red-handed. I say therefore no reason why I should venture further, or endeavor to learn in detail the nature of this message entrusted to the girl for delivery. My duty now was to report what I had discovered, when the prompt arrest of Alva, and a few others, would end the whole scheme. It seemed simple enough, if I could only find my way out safely.

But escape unobserved was far from being assured. Any retreat by way of the lighted passage was impossible; there were guards there at both ends; the only hope lay in a blind effort forward.

I accepted the only course possible, and began to feel my way to the left, skirting the wall of rough boarding, until it widened out into what was apparently the larger room beyond. No sound reached me from any direction, the silence and darkness oppressing me, as though they had weight.

Yet one fact became more and more clear—the deliberate purpose with which this deserted iron factory had been prepared for a secret rendezvous. Apparently, from without, it stood grim, desolate and deserted, yet the interior arrangements were such that conspirators could meet securely inside, protected from observation, in rooms through whose walls no gleam of light might be visible from either street or alley. Only an accident, or constant vigilance without, could reveal the true use to which the building was now being devoted. This knowledge rendered the peril of my own position the more intense. I could be killed, murdered, and no man would ever be the wiser. I would simply disappear, vanish, and that would be the end.

At that moment I had no thought but to discover some means of escape. The knowledge of the danger I was in robbed me of all courage. I was like a child afraid in the dark. I moved forward, inch by inch, feeling my way along the rough planking with one hand, my limbs actually trembling under me. If I could only find some opening; see some gleam of light; break away from this terrible silent

I supposed I was moving with the utmost caution, every nerve on edge, feeling a way forward with hands and feet. Once I stepped upon a shelf of some kind which crunched beneath the weight, and again my groping hand dislodged a small block of wood, which fell with a slight clatter. I halted both times, my heart in my mouth, yet nothing happened, and I moved forward again confident of not being overheard.

I could not have told what it was that halted me. I remember I stopped as though shot, my very breath suspended, one foot still uplifted in a step forward, my eyes staring helplessly into the black void. The silence was that of a tomb. I could feel the perspiration flow down my face in a stream; it was an instant of torture. Then an unseen hand gripped me and an electric flash-light glared into my eyes.

CHAPTER IV.

I Become a Well-Known Thief.

The sudden, unanticipated attack, the burst of dazzling light in my eyes, rendered me for the moment utterly helpless. I was blinded, and so tightly grasped at the throat as to be nearly strangled. I only dimly realized that my assailant was a man, his grip that of a giant. Then, to my surprise, the fellow laughed oddly, snapping out his light, and releasing his grip.

"Well, if this don't beat h—ll," he said, in the tone of cheerful disgust. "Come in here and let me leak you over."

His hand closed on the sleeve of my coat, and before I scarcely found time to catch my breath again I had been dragged through a narrow opening and became aware that a door shut silently behind me.

The fellow gave me little opportunity to either act, or think. A match flared, and was held aloft to a gas jet which instantly broke into a dull flame, sufficient to render visible the full extent of the small room in which we stood. In some semi-conscious way I was aware of bare walls, of a small table opposite with some writing materials on it, and a short bench covered by a blanket. I suppose I saw these things, yet all that I seemed to perceive was the man fronting me, who stared in my face, a quizzical smile on his lips, as though still half uncertain of the reality of my presence. He was tall, a trifle angular, but exceedingly well-dressed, with closely trimmed iron-gray beard and peculiar eyes deeply set in a rather chalky face. He broke the silence, evidently inclined to look upon this meeting as a joke.

"Don't recognize me, I reckon? Well, that ain't to be wondered at; for likely enough you never saw me before. Beats the devil though why you should drift in here; now I suppose it will have to be fifty-fifty."

His words and manner gave me a new lease on life. Whoever the fellow might be he was seemingly friendly. I must meet the fellow in that same spirit and endeavor to extract from him some knowledge of whom he supposed me to be.

"I do not quite get the drift of all this," I ventured. "You imply that you know me."

"H—ll, yes. Over in Bow Street, on the other side. The Harlebury robbery case. I'd been hearing about you for years, and when that came on, I took a chance and drifted into court one day just to see what you looked like. You've shaved your mustache, and look ten years younger, but I knew you, all right. I never forget a face. Say, who put you onto this game—Waldron?"

I nodded, taking a chance. "I'd have bet my life he was the guy. I might have known he would double-cross me some way. Of course a tip's a tip in this game, and I don't blame you for hornin' in. Naturally you never knew this was my game—how could you? Waldron never said a word about me, did he?"

"Not once."

"That's how I had it sized up, so I don't hold any grudge against you, now listen," and he bent forward confidentially, lowering his voice, so I could barely distinguish his words. "We'll talk it all over later, when we're alone. 'Tain't exactly safe here, for these walls are thin, and there is quite a bunch around tonight. There's plenty for the two of us, if we play the cards right, and we'll let Waldron hold the bag. What do you say, Daly?"

So my name was "Daly." Well, that was interesting at least, although it gave me no new light. However, nothing remained for me to do except agree to his blind proposition.

"That's mighty handsome of you. What's the figure?"

"A million!" enthusiastically. "Wait until I get a chance to explain the plan; it looks like Providence had just handed us out the money."

"Why not explain the scheme to me?"

"Not now; there ain't time." He glanced at his watch, "and besides, for all I know, some guy might be listening in to what we say. You see there is a bunch of hell-cats in there waiting for me to give them a song and dance. I'm the big end right now, but I've got to slug low until I'm sure what word these guys have got from Washington. After that I'll know how to trim sail. You wait until I come back, Daly, and then we'll plan this thing out. You think I'm eluding to play fair, don't you?"

Courage may be largely callousness; but that kind is valuable, too.

625,000 BOTTLES SOLD IN NEW YORK

Biggest Thing of Kind Ever Seen in That State, Declares Big Wholesaler.

The fact that 625,000 bottles of Tan-lac have been sold in the state of New York since its introduction there less than one year ago, is a big business item that will attract unusual attention throughout the entire East, for nothing like it has ever happened before. It breaks all records.

Mr. George B. Evans, manager of the Gibson-Snow Company, the well-known wholesale druggists, with branches in Albany, Buffalo, Rochester and Syracuse, recently announced that the preparation was now selling in their trade territories alone at the phenomenal rate of approximately 500,000 bottles a year.

"If the present rate continues," said Mr. Evans, "this state alone will probably require considerably over 750,000 bottles a year. This is a tremendous figure, but I am really conservative in making this statement."

Tan-lac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.—Advertisement.

CATARRAL DEAFNESS

is greatly relieved by constitutional treatment. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced, your hearing may be destroyed forever. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE acts through the mucous surfaces of the system, thus reducing the inflammation and assisting Nature in restoring normal conditions.

"Not at all. He's depot master at a gasoline station."

Catch of Cod in Norway.

The catch of cod in Norway for the season just ended is greater than in any one of the preceding four years. However, the value of the catch was about 22,000,000 crowns, as compared with a value of 45,000,000 crowns for the 1920 season. The total number of fish caught in 1921 was 30,000,000; the 1920 catch totaled 39,000,000. The selling price is considerably lower and the high cost of equipment and oils makes the profit less than average. The operating expenses were at the same level as during the war.

Reorganize the Advisory Board of Salvation Army

Adjutant Ketchum of the Salvation Army Thursday evening called a meeting of the advisory board of the Salvation Army in Lake County in the Salvation Army Hotel where a dinner was served and then steps were taken to reorganize the board and preliminary action was outlined for a campaign to raise $5,000 for the coming year's work in Lake county.

T. J. Stahl

About 15 men were present out of a committee of 27 and others who could not attend sent assurance that they would co-operate in anything what was done.

T. J. Stahl was elected chairman of the advisory board in place of Charles N. Steele, who remains on the board but who declined to act as chairman. The vice-chairman is Col. A. V. Smith, Mancel Talcott is secretary and Harold Martin is treasurer.

These three latter officers hold over from the old committee.

Members of the reorganized board are:

T. J. Stahl—President.

Colonel A. T. Smith—Vice President.

Mancel Talcott—Secretary.

H. E. Martin—Treasurer.

It was decided to launch a campaign to raise $5,000 in Lake county which Adj. Gen. Ketchum outlined as necessary to carry on the religious and social service work in Waukegan and Lake county. Just when the drive will start is not known but

County Clerk Lew. T. Hendee was elected chairman of this drive.

Mr. Hendee at first hesitated on excepting the chairmanship but later was persuaded to do so and said he would give every possible bit of energy he possesses to put over the drive because he declares there is no organization in Lake county which is entitled to the enthusiastic support

as is the Salvation Army.

Corporation Council Buckley also made a very enthusiastic talk, declaring that the time is past in view of the wonderful showing made by the Salvation Army during the war

when it should be necessary for officers of the army to go to the public and beg them to contribute funds for their work. He felt that the public ought to step forward with no hesitancy and lend them hearty support

at all times. County Judge Persons,

Supt. of Schools Simpson, Supervisor

Geo. Bairstow, Secretary Chamber of Commerce Clifford Ed. Conrad, and others made enthusiastic talks in which they lauded the work of the Salvation Army and urged members to contribute their share to further the good work and helping in the campaign.

Mr. Bairstow, supervisor and poor-master of Waukegan township declared that the Salvation Army is a great aid to him in his work in checking up those who ask for assistance.

He declared that he felt the time was here when a United Charities should be operated in order not to duplicate the aid given to poor families. He felt that no organization was so well fitted for directing this kind of work as the Salvation Army.

Yes, Verily.

LIVE STOCK

NOT WISE TO OVERLOAD CARS

Death or Injury of Animals Means Heavy Loss to Shipper—Temperance to Crowd Is Great.

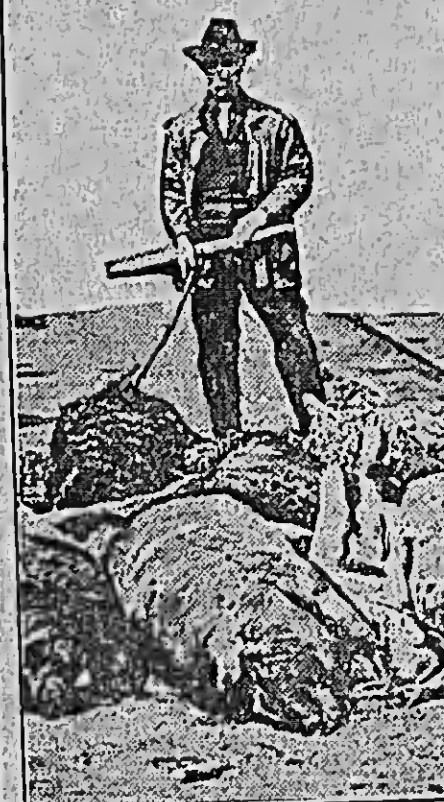

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

It makes quite a difference in the profits of the farmer stock raiser whether he obtains 8½ cents per pound for his hogs as sent or from ½ to ¾ cent per pound for them as dead hogs and soap-grease material. Which of these prices he obtains depends upon how the animals are loaded in the cars. Many shippers, either through ignorance or in an effort to save a small amount of freight, overload or improperly load their live stock when sending it to market, and thereby run great risks of sustaining serious losses through crippled or dead animals, say specialists of the bureau of markets, United States Department of Agriculture.

With freight rates at their present levels there is a strong temptation to economize on this item of expense by crowding a few more animals into an already well-filled car. Representatives of the department, however, who see thousands of carloads of live stock unloaded at the great central markets, are of the opinion that if farmers and stockmen could see the condition in which much of the live stock reaches the stockyards they would be impressed not only with the folly of overloading, but also with the absolute necessity of taking every precaution against injury and death of the animals while in transit.

Overloading is one of the commonest, and at the same time most serious, mistakes made by the inexperienced or careless shipper. It means such an easy matter to crowd just a few more animals into a car, and the fact that once in a great while an overloaded car will go through without serious mishap seems to urge the shipper on to tempt fate just once more. The wise shipper, however, will have nothing to do with this false economy, say specialists of the department. He will lay down a hard and fast rule to load only as many animals in the car as can ride comfortably, and from this rule he will not deviate.

The chances of loss through overloading are greater in warm weather than in cold. Temperatures may be such at the time of loading that the animals are fairly comfortable, but before they reach market the weather turns suddenly hot, with the result that anywhere from one to 12 animals suffocate. This is particularly true of hogs. The shipper should remember that stock cars frequently stand in freight yards completely hemmed in by trains of box cars. Under such circumstances, if the animals are crowded in the car and the weather is hot, overheated and dead animals are almost certain to result.

Another mistake frequently made is to load mixed stock without proper partitions. When two or more species of live stock are shipped in the same car they should generally be kept separate by building strong partitions. This is particularly important when large animals are shipped with smaller ones.

It has been found that shipping live animals any considerable distance is an undertaking always fraught with some risk. This risk, however, may be materially reduced, in the opinion of department specialists.

The exact number of animals that should be shipped in a car, naturally, varies with the size of the car, the size and kind of animals, the length of haul, the season of the year, and weather conditions. There can be no variation, however, in the general rule that the animals should have sufficient room to be reasonably comfortable, and that the car should be so partitioned that large animals cannot trample the smaller ones, and that aggressive and quarrelsome animals cannot injure those with a more quiet and timid disposition.

Even at the present comparatively low price of live stock a single dead or crippled animal invariably represents a substantial loss, and in many instances wipes out the profit on the entire shipment.

MORE AMERICAN FLAX IS URGENTLY NEEDED

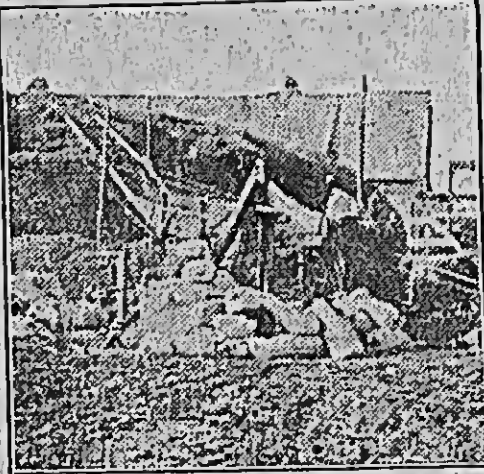

Supply From Russia Has Been Greatly Curtailed.

Demand for Material for Manufacture of Linens Continues as Strong as Ever—New Methods and Machines Investigated.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The upside-down condition of things in Russia has produced many unexpected results, but none more unexpected to the casual mind than its effect upon the supply of flax fiber. Before the World War Russia produced about 80 per cent of the flax fiber used in making linens. This supply was cut off, while the demand for linens continues as strong as ever.

In the United States the normal consumption of flax fiber by the spinning mills, before the war, was about 10,000 tons a year, most of which was imported. To produce this amount of fiber about 60,000 acres is required. To help in meeting the situation the United States Department of Agriculture, through the office of fiber investigations, is encouraging the production of flax fiber by experimenting with it in new localities, investigating new methods and machines, and developing improved strains of the flax which are taller, yield more and better fiber, and some of which are resistant to disease and lodging.

It has been shown that better flax is produced from seed of selected strains than from imported seed, such as has been used in the past. Efforts are being made, too, to increase the seed of these selections for distribution generally.

A special survey is being made this season to determine the extent of disease injury to which flax is subject, and to procure definite information needed in devising methods for combating such diseases.

About 6,000 acres of flax was grown in the United States in 1920.

GOOD ROADS DAY

Two weeks ago this paper received a communication from Dr. Morrell asking why the town could not have a good roads day. Everybody to close up shop and get out with shovels and other tools and fix up our streets. The gravel for this work has been offered by Mr. Riuear.

This is a step in the right direction and one that every public spirited man in town should get behind. The Commercial association should take action on this immediately. Lake Villa has recognized the need of an improvement of their roads and will hold their good roads day Wednesday, Sept. 28. When will Antioch have their day?

The people in Antioch may be interested in knowing that plans for the development of highway from the Wisconsin State Line to a point in the neighborhood of Lake Villa along the main road will be submitted to the highway department for approval within a very short time. These plans could not have been fully prepared before on account of the failure of the department of highways, until recently, to select the course of route. Now however, that has been done and the work is going forward rapidly.

PLANT PESTS CAUSE BIG LOSS OF WHEAT

Possible to Reduce Toll Much Below Present Figures.

Bureau of Plant Industry Working Out Preventive and Control Measures for Diseases of Different Cereal Crops.

Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.
If all the wheat now destroyed annually by pests could be saved and made into flour the United States Department of Agriculture says it would add approximately 25,463,700 barrels to the yearly output to the nation. The annual production of wheat in this country for the four-year period, 1916 to 1919, inclusive, was 783,849,500 bushels. The annual loss from disease during this period was 147,318,500 bushels.

While it is not possible entirely to eliminate wheat diseases, it is possible to reduce the toll much below what it has been in recent years, says the department. One branch of the work of the office of cereal investigation in the bureau of plant industry is to work out the preventive and control measures for the diseases of all cereal crops. Another branch of the work of this office, which is of equal importance in increasing production of cereal crops, is the development and introduction of superior varieties of grain which produce higher yields in localities where they are especially well adapted, or which have disease-resistant qualities. This work is carried on in co-operation with the various state experiment stations, and in many cases has made profitable farming possible in sections in which agriculture was hazardous previous to the introduction of new crops or varieties particularly well suited to local conditions.

POULTRY AND DAIRY PROFITS

One of Very Best Ways Farmer Can Dispose of Surplus Milk Is to Feed It to Fowls.

The dairyman (or the farmer who runs a small dairy in connection with his farm) is in an enviable position to make the biggest proportionate profits from a flock of poultry. One reason for this is that the best foods as milk producers are also excellent egg producers. For instance, clover, alfalfa, middlings, rye, etc., are all palatable and beneficial to cows and chicks alike—and so is an occasional mess of finely chopped sludge.

Furthermore, the cows furnish one of the best of foods for laying hens, for milk is a valuable egg food in any form. One of the very best ways any farmer can dispose of surplus milk with profit is to feed it to the hens, or to growing young stock. It furnishes just the material needed for improving growth of eggs—and does it in a palatable, easily digested form—hence it is an exceedingly valuable product as an adjunct to the grain ration, which often lacks essential elements.

Flex-a-Tile Roll Shingle Roofing can be used on new or old buildings. On new work it is nailed direct to the roof boards. Flex-a-Tile Roll Shingle Roofing is extra strong and for this reason can be applied right over old wood shingles with good results. Wesley Story left Monday for Kansas to visit his sister.

Miss Mabel Van Deusen visited in Chicago with friends over the weekend.

The Harold Williams and the Panowski families are enjoying a visit at Chetek.

Bert Dickey will soon start to build a house on north main street in the Craig subdivision.

Mr. and Mrs. James Stearns and daughter Esther motored to Kenosha Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Rosing has purchased the Bert Bown house on Ida avenue, which is occupied by the Dodge family.

Mrs. Gehrke and granddaughter left Tuesday morning for Whiting, Ind., to spend some time visiting relatives.

Mrs. Gehrke moved into the Wilton flat on Main street on Saturday. She formerly occupied rooms with Mrs. Grimm on Lake street.

Mrs. William Ross left on Tuesday morning for New York city and other eastern points. She expects to be gone about two weeks.

Mrs. Kate Rodman of Walworth, and Mrs. Eva (Felter) Morgan of Capron, Ill., visited the first of the week, with Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Felter.

Geo. B. Johnson vacated the Chinn flat this week. Mr. and Mrs. Chalcraft are to be the new occupants. Mr. Chalcraft is agriculture teacher at the high school.

A deal was closed sometime ago in which Wm. Rosing sold his home to Arthur Van Patten. Mr. Van Patten is having the house moved to the lot he purchased from Sam Ries on Johnson street.

Miss Mabel Van Deusen entertained the members of the Epworth League to a "Hobo" party on Monday evening. They all gathered at her home early in the evening. It was planned for all to hike to the Tiffany farm and have a weenie roast as well as other good things to eat, besides a birthday cake with fifteen candles as was Mabel's birthday. On account of the rain it was decided to have the party in the basement of the M. E. church. All who attended surely had a good time and are looking forward to the next party.

Dizzy's Venus.

Sir William Harecourt went once to visit Lord Disraeli at Hughenden and the couple were showing him their household goods. In the dining room, looking at an old Italian picture of Venus, "Wonderful," said Sir William, "Ah! but she's nothing to the Venus that Dizzy has in his bedroom!" exclaimed funny little Lady Harecourt. Sir William, who was standing by the picture at the moment, turned round and made for ladyship a deep bow—London Mail.

The library is ready for reading circle work. Pupils who read four books during the term and report satisfactorily to their teachers are issued a diploma. A gold seal is added each succeeding year for the same requirements. It is necessary to have a diploma and four gold seals to complete the course in reading. There are seven eighth grade members, fifteen seventh, fourteen sixth, fourteen fifth, seven fourth, twelve third and seven of the second grade who have enrolled.

Miss Dunham is with us again. Margaret Wagner is being given a trial in seventh grade as in William Lasco in eighth.

Edmund Strang is feeling quite important as his folks have just purchased a new car.

The third and fourth graders have been making paper boxes for construction work this week. Many pretty boxes have been made—all sizes and colors.

A number of plants have been sent to the school which add to the cheerfulness of the rooms.

New screens are being made for the windows.

Our text books are all here, we received the last lot Tuesday.

Ten of the fourth graders, accompanied by their teacher, hiked to Channahon Lake Saturday and spent the day there. They report a fine time and all are eager to go again.

Enid Bennett at Crystal Next Sunday

It took a good town to "keep up with Lizzie." All they had to do was to give her a start, and then she led them all the way. Lizzie's Pa, Sam Henshaw, was mighty ambitious for her, so he sent her away to a finishing school in the East. Then Lizzie became even more perfectly finished by traveling abroad with some wealthy friends. One would never imagine from the style that Lizzie showed abroad, and when she came home, that her father was only a country grocer. Talk about Lizzie being finished—it was Lizzie's pa that became finished! He borrowed money on everything he owned to satisfy Lizzie's whim. Not only that, but the whole town did the same thing trying to keep up with her. A small town never became such a style center and whirlpool of social activities as did Pointview immediately upon Lizzie's return from abroad. "Keeping up with Lizzie" comes to the Crystal Sunday.

PREPARE GARDEN LATE IN SUMMER

One of Most Important Things
Is to Burn or Haul Away All Trash of Any Sort.

FIRST PUT BEAN POLES AWAY

Plow or Spade Ground and Cover With Coarse Manure to Put it in Better Physical Condition for Spring Planting.

Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.

The man who makes a genuinely good garden does not begin in the spring. He begins in the fall. But the spring is a long way off, you say?
The bean poles are beginning to rot already, and it is true right now to take out insurance by putting them away properly. And that is only one of a considerable number of shrewd things of equal importance that should be done in the garden now.

Because you have harvested all the garden crops do not fall into the serious error of thinking that you do not need to give any further attention to the garden till next spring.

Clean-Up Time in Garden.
One of the most important things is to clean up. You wouldn't excuse a slovenly kept house. Well, slovenly-ness in the garden is hardly more to be tolerated. Good housekeeping in the garden is a matter of importance, not merely because a slovenly garden in winter is the most desolate-looking thing in man's perversion of nature, but because the success of next year's vegetables depends on it, largely.

Most of the diseases and insect pests that affect garden crops live over winter in the remains of the past season's crops. Such materials as cabbage stalks, bean vines, tomato vines—in fact, trash of any sort in the garden—should be collected and hauled to a dump, or burned.

Then, having the ground clean, there is another thing of equal importance.
It should not be allowed to lie bare over winter. Ground exposed to heating rains will puddle and wash and great loss of plant food is sure to result. A very good plan is to sow the garden in some green crop, such as rye or winter barley. That protects the ground and adds organic matter to the soil. But there is, according to garden specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture, a still better plan and one that can be put in practice after the season for sowing rye or barley is long past. That better plan is to plow or spade the garden in the fall or as early in the

This Boy Began Gardening Operations at Right Time.

winter as possible and give it a heavy coating of horse manure. Leave the ground in the rough, as this will prevent the loss of the valuable ingredients in the manure.

Gives Early Vegetables.

Now, what have you gained by that plan? Well, in addition to fertilizing the ground and putting it in better physical condition, this: The garden can be planted earlier in the spring than if it had been left bare or planted to a green crop. And that amounts to a great deal. It amounts, frequently, to having a number of nice vegetables on your table two or three weeks ahead of your neighbor who did not break his garden till spring.
Such crops as smooth peas, beans, lettuce and onion sets can be planted as early in the spring as the ground can be worked. If plowing or spading the ground has been deferred till spring, a delay of as much as three weeks is likely to occur after these crops should have been planted—which means, reducing it to money measure, that you will go on buying vegetables for at least that long after you might have been bringing them in nice and fresh from your own garden if you had done a little work in the fall or early winter.

PUTTING PLOW AWAY IN FALL

Excellent Plan to Apply Good Coat of Axle Grease and Cover With Thin, Dry Dust.

When you put your plow away for the season, put a good coat of axle grease on the point and moldboard and cover the grease with a good covering of dry dust. This will cause the axle grease to stay where the grease alone would dry out, and will save a lot of worrying when plow time comes.

CO-OPERATIVE PRINCIPLES MUST BE FOLLOWED IN ORGANIZATION

A Creamery Which Gathers the Milk or Cream of Many Producers, to Manufacture Into Uniform High-Grade Dairy Products, Is One of the Best Examples of Successful Co-operation.

Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Specialists in the United States Department of Agriculture urge constantly the establishing of uniform standards for farm products, and declare that if these standards are maintained, once they have been adopted, the confidence of the public will be established, and the success of co-operative marketing more generally assured. Too many organizations are brought into being as a result of enthusiasm created by appeals to prejudice and by misconception.

The proper foundation is through a well-recognized need for an organization. "Co-operative principles," said a cooperative specialist of the bureau of markets, "must be adhered to in the organization and operation of farmers' marketing associations. The farmers themselves cannot be expected to have a vital interest in a marketing organization operated for the profit of and controlled by a few persons. Such an organization should be operated, of course, to effect savings, and to render service and not to earn profits for distribution as dividends on money invested. A fair rate of interest is granted to the capital invested by the members, and the remainder of any surplus to be distributed should be divided in accordance with patronage, that is, the amount of business transacted with the organization.

Loyalty Is Essential.

"The membership should be open to producers only who desire to avail themselves of its facilities, and there should be safeguards to prevent the ownership and control of the enterprise from falling into the hands of a few persons. The success of the entire effort depends upon the loyalty of the members and their interest in the organization, the high standards they maintain, and their distinct understanding that as a business association it should be managed by a man or men able to earn a dignified compensation. Disloyalty has caused the failure of more than one co-operative organization, and it is a weakness which can be remedied only by the members themselves.

"The manager, of course, is the keystone supporting the business. The salary offered him should attract high-class ability as in any business looking to success, and he should have authority to support his work. An entire business can be ruined by an incompetent manager at its head.

"A co-operative marketing association may be likened to a typewriter, which is a very efficient machine, but useless until you have some one competent to operate it. The success of co-operative marketing depends almost entirely upon obtaining a suitable volume of business, observing true co-operative principles, employing capable management, having thoroughly modern business methods, and finally, loyal membership."

Steady Growth Tends to Success.

Men who have traveled in every part of the United States observing the work of co-operative organizations of various kinds, believe that the success of widespread co-operative marketing may be endangered through a poorly conceived hope or expectation that a hard and fast organization of producers will make it possible to sell anything and everything at a predetermined price without regard to quality or conditions. This is a dangerous attitude to assume.

Men who have given close attention to the subject declare that there is a widespread feeling that it is possible to revolutionize completely the entire system of marketing and attain success from the outset. This, of course, is impossible because it is necessary to build upon a solid foundation and to work out the many problems involved carefully. Steady, substantial and healthy growth tends to permanence and success.

No one should believe that because he is a member of a certain co-operative association, unusual prices are assured.

TO INSURE HEALTHY CALVES

If Cow Does Not Receive Abundance of Palatable Feed, Weak, Puny Calf Results.

Poorly nourished cows give birth to weak, puny calves which are hard to raise. The feeding of the calf, therefore, begins before it is born. The food elements necessary for the development of the calf are taken into the stomach of the cow, digested, assimilated and transmitted to the calf through the umbilical cord, the connection between the mother and the calf. It is evident that if the cow does not receive food enough to keep herself in thrifty condition and at the same time develop her calf, say specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture, both she and the calf must suffer.

In endeavoring to raise good, thrifty calves many dairymen handicap themselves at the start by not properly feeding the pregnant cows. Such cows should have an abundance of palatable and succulent or juicy feed in order to insure good body flesh and healthy, thrifty condition at calving time. The calves will then be well developed, strong and sturdy, and ready to respond normally to proper feed and care.

WHY DRUGGISTS RECOMMEND SWAMP-ROOT

For many years druggists have watched with much interest the remarkable record maintained by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine.

It is a physician's prescription.
Swamp-Root is a strengthening medicine. It helps the kidneys, liver and bladder do the work nature intended they should do.

Swamp-Root has stood the test of years.
It is sold by all druggists on its merit and it should help you. No other kidney medicine has so many friends.

Be sure to get Swamp-Root and start treatment at once.
However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr.
Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Advertisement.

By Way of Explanation.
"Ah!" sighed the presiding elder,
"why do so few parents nowadays sing to their children?"
"One reason I don't," replied Gap Johnson of Tumpus Ridge, "is that the last time I tried it they ganged me till their man had to fling hot water on 'em to make 'em turn loose."

Will Protect Rights of Muscovy, America Tells Far Eastern Republic.

WILL NOT RECOGNIZE CHITA

State Department Note Assures People of Square Deal at the Washington Conference — Holland and Belgium Get Seats.

Washington, Sept. 21.—Assurances that "legitimate Russian interests" will be carefully guarded at the armament and Far-Eastern conference have been conveyed to the Russian people by the State department.
The assurances were contained in a message which was directed to the authorities of the Far Eastern republic at Chita in response to the request of the republic that its representatives be admitted to the conference. The department announced that its reply delivered through the American minister at Peking, embodied the observations of the United States government on the general subject of Russia's position.

The Chita government's request was handed to the American minister at Peking, but the American government made no formal reply, since the so-called Far Eastern republic has not been recognized by the United States or other governments. The American minister at Peking, however, was instructed to convey the American views, which were paraphrased in an announcement by the department as follows:

"In the absence of a single recognized Russian government the protection of legitimate Russian interests must devolve as a moral trusteeship upon the whole conference. It is regrettable that the conference, for reasons quite beyond the control of the participating powers, is to be deprived of the advantage of Russian co-operation in its deliberations, but it is not to be conceived that the conference will take decisions prejudicial to legiti-mate Russian interests.

"It is the hope and expectation of the government of the United States that the conference will establish general principles of international action which will deserve and have the support of the people of Siberia and of all Russia by reason of their justice and efficacy in the settlement of outstanding difficulties."

The State department has recently sent to Chita John Caldwell, a consul for temporary service, with instructions to observe and report to the department developments in that region.
It was declared, however, that Caldwell's presence in Chita did not imply recognition.

Sufficient assurances, formal and informal, are understood to have been received by the State department from the different powers invited to the conference to make it appear that Holland and Belgium have seats at the conference when it discusses Far Eastern subjects.

PUTS BAN ON "FOOD DRAFTS"

Soviet Authorities Won't Allow Russians in U. S. to Aid Relatives There.

Washington, Sept. 21.—The soviet authorities have refused to allow the American relief administration to include the system of "food drafts" used in the other cases of European relief.
Secretary Hoover revealed.

By this system, which was used with success in Poland, Austria, Serbia and other relief undertakings of Secretary Hoover's organization, it was made possible for persons residing in the United States who had relatives in the famine-stricken districts to purchase "drafts" on warehouse food supplies abroad.

There are approximately 1,305,000
Russians in the United States, Mr.
Hoover said.

German Radicals Also Force Mo-

Destroy Banner.

Berne, Sept. 21.—A celebration at Wilmersdorf of the battle of Tannen-burg, following the anniversary of the battle fought there in East Prussia in 1914, was broken up by socialists and communists, who overpowered the nationalists and compelled their band to play revolutionary airs. The radicals also forced the band to accompany them to Bremen, where a bust of ex-Emperor William and monarchical banners, which they had captured, were burned in the market place.

Bodyguard of Lincoln Dead.

reached a decision on that subject.

CHURCH PROVED UNAIDED SLAYER

Chicago Slayer Exonerates All Suspects in New Confession and Demonstration.

STATE OFFICIALS CONVINCED

Shows Just How He, a 135-Pound Man, Lifted the Body of So Powerful a Man Over the River Bridge Railing.

Chicago, Sept. 20.—Harvey W.
Church demonstrated to the satisfaction of the state that he alone and unaided murdered Bernard J. Daugherty and Carl A. Ausmuth, automobile salesmen. At least he proved that he could have done so, and the state now believes he did.

He made his demonstration by taking a powerful detective, as heavy as Daugherty who weighed 188 pounds, and re-enacting the whole tragedy—handed him, laying him down on the carpeted floor, and then raising his body, a solid sagging deadweight—as Daugherty's body must have been to the height of his shoulders.

Convinced that Church was telling the truth, Chief Investigator Ben Newmark, who was conducting the questioning, demanded why he had dragged in accomplices.

"The police wanted an accomplice,"
he said calmly, "so I gave them one.
They insisted I couldn't do it alone,
but I did."

How could Church, a 135-pound man, kill a man as powerful as Daugherty?

How could he have covered Daugherty with a revolver and handcuffed him at the same time?

Church brushed the questions aside
with a gesture.

"Give me a chance and I'll show you how I killed them alone," he urged.
"Get me a man as big as Daugherty and I'll pick him up and show you how I tossed his body into the river."

Detective Sergeant "Billy" McCarthy stepped forward. McCarthy weighs 100 pounds. It was just seven o'clock as the handcuffs were handed to Church. In the twinkling of an eye he had snatched the cuffs on McCarthy and laid him on the floor. The detective let his body go limp, a solid lump of dead weight. Church wrapped his arms around him and began to lift.

In amazement the watchers saw him slowly lift McCarthy from the floor.
The only sound was the labored breathing of the murderer. The shirt tightened on his back as the powerful muscles were brought into play. Before they realized it, Church had raised the body of McCarthy to the level of his waist and placed him on a table.

Church stepped back. "See," he jerked out, "I did it."
"I did it myself. I didn't intend to kill him at first. Things just moved too fast for me. I wanted the car.
Daugherty came to the house. I didn't have the money. I invited him to the cellar. I covered him with the revolver and snapped the handcuffs on him."

"Then something came over me. I don't know what. (Church breathed faster.) I hit him with a ball bat.
Then I just went 'nutty.' I guess. I grabbied up an ax and cut his throat.
I pounded him again and again. Then Ausmuth came. I hit him, too, and he died. I left the bodies and took moder for a ride."

"Later I returned and buried Ausmuth. I was all heated up and perspiring when I finished. My mother noticed it. I went to bed but couldn't sleep. At three o'clock I got up and took the body to the river and threw it in."

"Didn't your mother think something was wrong?"

"Yes. She asked me what the trouble was. I explained that I had been moving a car in the garage."

"But why, then, did you implicate the others?" Newmark asked.

"Well, I told the truth when I first made a confession. No one would believe me. The police seemed to think some one else was in on it. The more I thought about it, the more I thought it I dragged another one in. I'd go free."

"Leon Parks never had anything to do with this. Neither did Milton B.
Walker. I knew both of them, but as long as the police had picked them up and they said Parks had confessed, I decided to change my story. That's all there is to it."

Raise Wolf Bounty to $10.

Dixon, Ill., Sept. 20.—The board of supervisors of Lee county raised the wolf bounty to $10. The measure was urged by farmers, who declare the wolves abound in rapidly increasing numbers in parts of the county.

Small Petitions Filed.

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 10.—Petitions for a change of venue from Sangamon county and affidavits alleging Judge Smith is prejudiced and could not give them a fair trial, were filed with the court by Gov. Len Small.

Three Eat Acorns; One Dies.

Waukegan, Ill., Sept. 10.—Three children, aged five, six and seven years, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Edmond at Lake Bluff, were poisoned through eating acorns. The oldest son, William, died.

Some More Truths.

WOULD you use a steam shovel to move a pebble? Certainly not. Implements are built according to the work they have to do.

Would you use a grown-up's remedy for your baby's ills? Certainly not.
Remedies are prepared according to the work THEY have to do.

All this is preliminary to reminding you that Fletcher's Castoria was sought out, found and is prepared solely as a remedy for Infants and Children. And let this be a warning against Substitutes, Counterfeits and the Just-as-good stuff that may be all right for you in all your strength, but dangerous for the little babe.

All the mother-love that lies within your heart cries out to you: Be true to Baby. And being true to Baby you will keep in the house remedies specially prepared for babies as you would a baby's food, hairbrush, toothbrush or sponge.

Exact Copy of Wrapper.

Children Cry For

Fletcher's
CASTORIA

Are You Prepared?

A doctor in the house all the time would be a good idea. Yet you can't afford to keep a doctor in the family to keep baby well or prevent sickness. But you can do almost the same thing by having at hand a bottle of Fletcher's Castoria, because it is a wonderful remedy for indigestion, colic, feverishness, fretfulness and all the other disorders that result from common ailments that babies have.

Fletcher's Castoria is perfectly safe to use. It is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrup. Children cry for Fletcher's Castoria, and mothers recommend it because they have found it a comfort to children and a mother's friend.

If you love your baby, you know how sweet it is to be able to help baby when trouble comes. You cannot always call upon a doctor.
But doctors have nothing but good to say of Fletcher's Castoria, because they know that it can only do good—that it can't do any harm—and they wouldn't want you to use for baby a remedy that you would use for yourself.

MOTHERS SHOULD READ THE BOOKLET THAT IS AROUND EVERY BOTTLE OF FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

Some alumni folks in Philadelphia were getting up a social function, when the secretary happened to mention to one of the members, the fact that a young woman from Boston named Hilgins was attending.

"Hilgins isn't a very attractive name," he said, "but the girl herself is a beauty."
"How shall I know her?" asked the other interested at once.

"Well," said the secretary, "she's the only girl I know with Yale eyes and a Harvard complexion."

Let's wife evidently passed some other woman and looked back to see what she had on.

Another Smart Youngster.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones had been invited to a friend's home for tea, and the time had arrived for preparing for the visit.

"Come along, dearie," said Mrs.
Jones to her three-year-old son, "and have your face washed."

"Don't want to be washed," came the reply.

"But," said mother, "you don't want to be a dirty little boy, do you? I want my little boy to have a nice clean face for the ladies to kiss."

Upon this persuasion he gave way and was washed.

A few minutes later he stood watching his father washing.

"Ha, ha, daddy!" he cried. "I know why you're washing!"

Do you discriminate at the dining table—or are you thoughtless?

In thousands of homes,
a "line" is drawn at the breakfast table. Tea or coffee is served for
"grown-ups" and Postum
for children. But some parents do not discriminate. Caffeine and tannin, the injurious contents of coffee and tea, seriously retard the development of the delicate nerve tissues
in children.

Consequently, instead of rich, satisfying Postum,
children are over stimulated by the drugs in tea and coffee; and so may grow up irritable and nervous. Any doctor can tell you that this is a great evil and should be corrected.

Although some parents feel a certain justification for the personal indulgence in coffee, yet
the harm to them may be equally serious. It may take a little while longer for the drugs in coffee and tea to affect

an older person, but in many cases the nervous system and allied bodily functions will become weakened. The surest way to avoid such possibilities is to quit coffee entirely and drink Postum instead. The change permits you to get sound,
restful sleep.

Postum is the well-
known, meal-time beverage. Like thousands of others you will like it because, in flavor, it is much like a high-grade
coffee.

Do away with the distinction at the table.
Serve delicious Postum, piping hot, to all the family. One week's trial and it is likely that you'll never return to tea and coffee.

Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water.
Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes.

Swan retired the side on strikes in the first inning.

Paint Also Helps.
Most people go to the expense of having cellar walls whitewashed every year or so, but few people feel that it is necessary to have any paint used in the cellar. However, it is a good idea to have cellar stairs treated to a coat or so of good floor paint. It prolongs their life and makes them easier to clean later.

Obituary

Augusta Ernestine Lueck was born at Uperhoff, Pommern, Germany, on August 29, 1841. In 1856 she was united in marriage to Christian Frederick Hanneman. Twelve children were born to this union, four of which died in infancy. A son, Julius Hanneman, passed away at his home in Wilmet in 1904 at the age of 37 years. The surviving children are: Godfred, of Berstein, Germany; Mrs. Louise Lasco, Powers Lake, Wis.; Mrs. Alvinie Nehring, Paynesville, Minn.; Mrs. Lena Edgar, Antioch, Ill.; Wm. Hanneman, Burlington, Wis.; Mrs. Annie Smith and Mrs. Amelia Mathews, of Trevor.

After the death of her husband in 1881, Mrs. Hanneman came to America with her seven children, settling at Channah Lake. After a few years she moved to the home north of Trevor which she occupied at the time of her death. In 1895 she was again married to her deceased husband's brother, Godfred Hanneman, who passed away in 1912. On the 29th day of August she celebrated her eightieth birthday by giving a dinner to her daughters and their husbands.

Grandma Hanneman never was ill till a few months ago when doctors diagnosed her ailment as hardening of the liver. She gradually failed and on Thursday, September 15, shortly after 6 o'clock, she passed away peacefully at the age of eighty years, two weeks and two days. She had been a member of the Lutheran church for many years. Her neighbors and friends will long remember her for her many deeds of kindness and sympathy. Funeral services were held at Wilmet Lutheran church on Sunday afternoon. Interment was at Wilmet cemetery by the side of her husband.

Besides the seven children she is survived by two sisters, two brothers, twenty-seven grandchildren and sixteen great-grandchildren.

C. Copper, Aurora, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hanneman, Huntly, Ill.

Scott S. Durand Demands Trial at Once by Court

Scott Durand, millionaire resident of Lake Bluff, residing on Crabtree Farm, against whom information was filed several days ago in the county court at Waukegan by State's Attorney Smith, appeared before Judge Persons Monday afternoon with his wife and Attorney Martin C. Decker, waived a jury and asked for an immediate trial. Mr. Durand was made defendant following the alleged statement of his foster son Jack Durand, that he had transported liquor from Chicago to his home in Lake Bluff, after Mr. and Mrs. Durand had caused Jack to be arrested on a charge of stealing $1,500 worth of liquor from their cellar.

"I want to go to the bottom of this thing," declared Mr. Durand, "as I know the charges against me are without foundation in fact and were the result of fabrications on the part of Jack in an effort to get even."

"Treasure Island" at Majestic on Sunday

Robert Louis Stevenson's immortal story, "Treasure Island," will be shown at the Majestic theatre, Sunday.

All the color and spirit of high adventure that is in the Stevenson classic has been retained, and the photoplay has been mounted with Mr. Tourneur's mastery of artistic production.

The story, which is familiar to all, has been followed closely in the screen version. Jim Hawkins, Bill Bones, Long Silver, Ben Gunn—all the familiar characters appear in the life-size picture. The picture opens in "Benbow Tavern," where at Bill Bones' death young Jim comes into possession of the chart showing the location of Captain Flint's treasure. From there sails the old brigantine in which the Squire and his mutinous crew leave on the treasure hunt. Battles with the pirates, the kidnapping of Jim, the fight in the stockade, and the final success follow.

Playing the role of Jim Hawkins is Shirley Mason. Lon Chaney, Alton, Charles Ogle, and Wilton Taylor are included in the cast.
